A Memorable Day at School

Class: 3A Name: Au Chun Hei

Last Monday was the school picnic, so my schoolmates and I went to Hong Kong Park to have a picnic. We felt amazed.

First, we ate sandwiches and drank fruit juice. Then we played some ball games like football and basketball.

Suddenly, a snake slithered at us, so we were scared. We saw a lot of trash on the grass, so we thought that this is why the snake slithered to us. Then, we picked up all the trash quickly and the snake finally slithered away. We felt happy.

At the end of the day, we all felt excited because Jesus Christ gave us a good day. For everything created by God is good, and nothing is to be rejected if it is received with gratitude. (Timothy 4:4). Gratitude turns what we have into enough. We felt grateful and happy. What an unforgettable day!

Today was a sunny day and I was so excited because it is the school picnic.

First, I go to school and the teachers said, 'We will go to Tuen Mun Park today.' We all cheered, 'Yes!' We finally arrived at Tuen Mun Park after half hour. I felt so ready because I could take out all my food to eat and share it with my friends. After we ate all the food. We did sports. Some are running, some are skipping, some are playing basketball, some are playing football..

Suddenly, there was a big cockroach, and it chased us. Everyone ran away, but I was brave. I distracted the cockroach till it walked away, and eventually everything came back to normal. My friends were relieved.

At last, we went back to school. I finally realized that being brave is nothing more than comforting my friends. Unexpectedly, I got a gift from my principal because she praised me for saying that I was a brave boy. What an unforgettable day!

Sometimes the little things in life mean the most. (Ellen Hopkins) For me, distracting the cockroach away is a little thing, but it means a lot to my friends.

My unforgettable and grateful school event is the school picnic. I went to Sai Kung with my schoolmates. It was sunny and warm. We had a joyful time there.

First, I skipped with my classmates. I played on the slide with my friends. I was very excited.

Then I had a lot of snacks and ate some yummy sandwiches. I drank orange juice too. My friends shared their food with me. They were caring.

At the end of the day, we all felt excited because Jesus Christ loved us very much. The weather was fine. For everything created by God is good, and nothing is to be rejected if it is received with gratitude. (Timothy 4:4). We had an amazing day!

English Day was my most memorable day at school this year. It was a school event with many activities throughout the day. It was unforgettable and grateful because there was an incident that happened on that day during the quiz competition in the school hall.

I was a backup member of Class 3C. However, Haley was sick in the morning. My English teacher asked me to be a supply member of the team. I was a bit nervous in the beginning. But to my surprise, we were the runners-up in the quiz competition. Joining competition with my classmates delighted me and gave me a lot of confidence.

We returned to our classroom after the competition. We finished a worksheet about festivals around the world. We learned festivals in South Africa, South Korea, Ireland and China as well. I learnt a valuable lesson about being respectful to different cultures around the world.

We also enjoyed many fun games in the game booths in the school playground. These games aimed at helping us practice English.

I did enjoy English Day really much. As I learnt that gratitude turns what we have into enough.

My most memorable day at school was English Day. It was a very exciting and joyful occasion because I had the chance to play many different games and spend time with my friends.

First, I joined a badminton game. I felt energetic and happy as I hit the shuttlecock. Playing sports with my classmates made me laugh and gave me confidence.

After that, my classmates and I returned to our classroom. We exchanged presents with one another. Some of my friends shared food, but I kept my snacks to myself at first. Later, I realized that sharing is important, and I learnt a valuable lesson about kindness and generosity.

We also enjoyed other activities, such as singing songs and answering questions in English. These games helped us practice our language skills while having fun.

At the end of the day, I wished that English Day could last forever. It was not only a happy day but also a meaningful one because it is wonderful it feels to share and to learn together.
